

FOOTBALL PLAYERS WILL RECOVER, SAY PHYSICIANS TODAY

John McMorris and Robert Marmion Show Improvement.

Although his condition is still serious, hope was expressed today by the attending physicians for the complete recovery of John McMorris, halfback on the Mt. St. Mary's football team, whose spine was fractured during the game with the Catholic University eleven in this city yesterday.

It developed this morning that the injury is an old one, from which McMorris had never fully recovered. He was injured in a football game a year or so ago, his spine and back being badly wrenched at that time. The accident yesterday aggravated the old trouble, and for a time it was feared his back had been broken. The accident yesterday aggravated the old trouble, and for a time it was feared his back had been broken. The accident yesterday aggravated the old trouble, and for a time it was feared his back had been broken.

Robert Marmion, the young son of Mrs. Robert Marmion, widow of the late Rear Admiral Marmion, it was learned today, was not so seriously injured in a football game at Baltimore yesterday as was thought at first. Marmion, who was taken to the Johns Hopkins Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain, will be brought to Washington this evening. Mrs. Marmion said she had been reassured by the physicians that her son's injury was not at all serious and that it was not necessary for her to go to Baltimore.

Commission Rule Is Discussed in Munsey's

"In this country, about one hundred and fifty cities, in many States, are governed under a commission plan including the initiative, referendum, and recall," writes Judge C. W. Munsey in the Washington Times for December. In an article, "Initiative, Referendum, and Recall," he says: "The system has had thorough trial, and the conclusion is that, while corruption and robbery are reduced to a minimum, the people seldom resort to direct legislation or recall. City councils know that if they don't do what the people want, the people will do it themselves; so the councils do it, and save the people the trouble."

"In our big and populous country we are probably long way from direct legislation in national affairs; but its widespread application in States and cities will probably have significant influence upon the national Congress, tending to make it more representative of public opinion."

Winter Cruising for Revenue Cutters Begins

Winter cruising work begins for the vessels of the Revenue Cutter Service on Atlantic coast stations today. For some days the vessels have been taking on gear and stores and getting ready for any calls for assistance that may be made upon them during the winter. The season ends March 30.

FOR A COMMISSION TO RULE TRUSTS

Sentiment in Congress Seems to Favor Creation of Body to Deal With Regulation Problem—Question of Federal Courts' Authority.

That the question of the authority of the Federal courts in dealing with interstate corporations is going to become one of the most serious phases of the corporation regulation problem which is now before Congress is becoming more and more apparent. Indications are pointing strongly to the fact that when Congress finally legislates with respect to the control of corporations it will create another great commission, comparable to the Interstate Commerce Commission. This suggestion runs through much of the testimony being brought out before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. Moreover, the idea has been much discussed in Congress. The Newlands bill provides for such a commission.

If such a commission, or any branch of the Government, is given the work of regulating the law as it affects interstate corporations, the question which will become acute is the very one which has been emphasized in carrying out the interstate commerce laws: In what way for the courts can step in and review the findings of the commission, and under what circumstances the rulings of the commission can be set aside.

President Seth Low, of the National Civic Federation, when before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, strongly advocated an interstate corporation commission, and emphasized the fact that appeal should lie from the commission to the Federal courts. Judge Gary did likewise. From their representations, and in other ways, it is apparent that exactly the same problem of court review that has caused so much trouble with respect to railroad regulation is certain to loom up.

Commission Suggested. It is quite clear that the idea of some form of Federal regulation of the corporations is gaining ground in Congress. Moreover, when legislation is had, it is equally clear that Congress is not going to intrust the administration of the law to any mere bureau of the Government or to any one head of a department; in other words, to a mere political appointee. It is almost inevitable, as things look now, that Congress will intrust the enormous responsibility of controlling the corporations only to a strong commission, and probably make the commission responsible to itself rather than to the President. It is not at all impossible that the present Interstate Commerce Commission shall be given the administration of the law.

Just now, the Interstate Commerce Commission is much embarrassed because of the disposition of the Court of Commerce to enjoin its orders. Congress is stirred up over the situation. It may, therefore, be expected that when Congress gets around to the question of how far the Federal courts can take a hand in the regulation of industrial corporations it will be extremely anxious to lend the courts any more authority than that of narrow review on law points.

Sims Bill Likely To Pass. It is expected this phase of the corporation problem will receive attention in Congress when the Court of Commerce repeal bill of Judge Sims comes up for discussion. Judge Sims proposes not merely to repeal the law establishing the Commerce Court, but to adjust with much care the law with respect to the jurisdiction of the Federal courts over orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Recently Judge Sims has been conferring with Senators Cummins and Borah and other progressive Republicans on the Senate side, and he finds them favorable to getting rid of the Commerce Court. From a careful analysis of the situation in the Senate, Judge Sims thinks the repeal will be put through.

Many Attend Gospel Mission's Praise Service

As a climax to an enjoyable day at Gospel Mission, 218 John Marshall place, yesterday afternoon, the mission hall was packed to its capacity last night at a praise service. The services were conducted last night by George W. Wheeler. A musical program, consisting of a number of solos, was given. Short addresses were made by the Rev. James T. Bell, an evangelist, and Miss Fannie Stukely, matron of the Jesus Will Help You Mission.

During the winter the Gospel Mission usually furnishes breakfast to about 100 men.

Program Today at Apple Show Last of Set Addresses

Prize "Baby" Sold on Block. Auction of Stock Closes Exhibit Tomorrow.

Three addresses, the last on the program of Washington's first apple show, were delivered this afternoon in the New Masonic Temple, Thirteenth street and New York avenue. Tomorrow, the closing day of the show, will be devoted to the awarding of premiums and prizes. It will be decided then who most accurately guessed the number of apples on the tree in the show. The show will close with the auctioning of the apples.

At the session this afternoon Dr. Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States Weather Bureau, spoke on the subject "Problems of the Air Affecting Orchardists." Prof. E. R. Lake, of the Department of Agriculture, made an address on "How the Apple Business is Handled in Oregon." Alexander A. Cohan, of Martinsburg, W. Va., spoke on "Orchard Possibilities of West Virginia."

stead of a squealing human infant, that Manager W. F. Thomas had to give away on the lucky number. The identity of the "real live baby, blond, weighing twenty pounds, having blue eyes, and raised on a bottle" was not known until the number had been drawn and the winner was declared to be Miss C. M. Clawson, 130 Maryland avenue northeast. Manager Patrick had aroused great antagonism among the leaders of the humane societies and the representatives of the orphanages. They presumed a child was to be given away, and several persons were present to protest.

Miss Clawson suggested that she would rather sell the "baby" she had drawn at auction than to take it home. Consequently, it was knocked down to John Schirmer for $5.

Dr. Harry S. Lewis Head of Emergency

As predicted several weeks ago in The Times, Dr. Harry S. Lewis, one of the youngest practicing physicians in the city, has been appointed superintendent of the Emergency Hospital, to take effect January 1, when the resignation of Dr. R. F. Magruder becomes effective. The appointment was made by the board of directors of the hospital, of which W. J. Boardman is chairman.

Dr. Lewis, who lives at 61 I street northwest, is a graduate of the George Washington University Medical School, having obtained a degree from that institution in 1910. For a year he served on the staff of the Emergency, but resigned from the institution October 15. Since then he has been engaged in private practice.

Funeral Services Held For Oliphant B. Brown

Funeral ceremonies for Oliphant B. Brown, well known in the various Government departments as division chief in the Adjutant General's office, in the old Ford Theater, were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at his residence, 2615 University place northwest, the Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment was in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Plate Printers Give Minstrel Performance

Eight hundred persons attended the minstrel performance of the Plate Printers' Association of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Thursday night, at Old Fellows Hall, Seventh street northwest.

To a matinee performance the Washington City Asylum sent 125 children, and 150 more attended from the St. Vincent de Paul Society. Sam Reder acted as stage manager. John Irving musical director, and James McCallister master of property.

INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, SOURNESS, GAS AND STOMACH-HEADACHE GO.

A little Diapiesin makes your out-of-order stomach feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in the mouth and stomach headache—this is Indigestion.

Full case of Pope's Diapiesin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or Indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or Indigestion in five minutes. Diapiesin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite, but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Bilelessness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapiesin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation too, if you ever try a little for Indigestion or Gastritis or any other Stomach misery. Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of Stomach Trouble and Indigestion.
